

(U//FOUO) SINIO Summer Seminar: China's Changing Role in the World

FROM: Marilyn Maines
Deputy Chief, Strategic Intelligence Issues (S17)
Run Date: 07/29/2004

(S) The SINIO Council and the National Cryptologic School are pleased to present another in the series of Strategic Intelligence Issue Seminars for Summer 2004. "China's Changing Role in the World" will be presented by Mike Vance, Assistant SINIO for East Asia, on Tuesday, 3 August, from 1130-1300 in Room 2N044. Advance registration is required - see the Brown Bag Series webpage for instructions.

(U) Course Overview:

(S) Chinese foreign policy is shifting from a low-profile, reactive approach to engaging the international arena, to a more sophisticated and activist stance. Both the intelligence and academic communities have begun to note this shift, which is changing the way we view China's role in international politics. Join the SINIOs for East Asia in a discussion of this important phenomenon.

(S) This brown bag session is classified (TS//SI). Session will not be videotaped.
