

(U//FOUO) SINIO Strategic Intelligence Seminar: Growing Pains: US, ROK, Japan

FROM: [REDACTED]
Deputy Chief, Strategic Intelligence Issues
Run Date: 07/19/2003

(C) The SINIO Council and the National Cryptologic School are pleased to present the sixth in a series of Strategic Intelligence Issue Seminars for Summer 2003. "Growing Pains: US, ROK, Japan" will be presented by the SINIO for East Asia, [REDACTED] on July 24 from 1100-1300 in Room 2C086, OPS1. Advance registration is required; instructions are provided at the end of this article.

Course Overview:

(U//FOUO) Changes in a number of areas are influencing US alliances in the Pacific: demographics, political maturation, evolving threats (both real and perceived), concepts of strategic security interests, economics, and (not least of all) the rise of China. This seminar will take you on a windshield tour of these issues, how they shape our alliance partners' behaviors and what the implications are for the US over the next several years.

(U//FOUO) Please consult the SINIO Website ("go sinio") for information on future events in this series.
